Wanted to send you a quick FYI on him because he asked. He said he has team coming up with you. He completed drug education and I must say that he did quite well. He actively participated and was appropriate in all his interactions. He came to every session and even came on days there was no group just to make sure he didn't miss. He was a good participant and did gold star work in drug education.

The Think Tank Council

The Think Tank Council members are a group of men; men who stepped outside of the normal mindset and activities of the institution. These men display a greater form of moral culpability and character in their daily perseverance; they are men of high honor and integrity.

The Council members are all graduates of the Inside / Out Prison Exchange Program. They strive each day to rehabilitate not only themselves, but also the countless men they encounter and live with.

The Think Tank Council members are men of influence, who have learned the importance of thinking before you act. They have attained a greater sensitivity and understanding to the various levels of victim impact. These men must always maintain a higher level of personal conduct, and indeed must be free of personal infractions for many years, to acquire this level of responsibility in an irresponsible environment.

The Think Tank Council addresses re-entry and quality of life issues at every meeting, for the benefit of the inmate population as a whole. They are expected to display, modify, insert, and tailor peer mentorship on a constant basis. It takes an educated man, and a certain higher character, for each member of The Council to daily address their own journey and rites of passage for personal growth.

Strategic Paradigm – Think Before You Move

Students who have completed this course have completed a program that engages students in lessons of problem solving and character development. The lessons have been designed to challenge their perceptions about their identity, roles in life, their community, potential, and purpose. Strategic Paradigm uses the game of Chess to promote academic understandings as well as real world understandings. Think Before You Move covers topics that include: confidence, intrinsic motivation, personal responsibility, self-awareness, advocacy, influence, peer pressure, conflict resolution, and goal-setting. Students engaged in discussions, activities, assignments and events that compel them to think critically about their own lives and future.

Upon completion of the program, students were able to:

- Identify challenges and barriers that have prevented them from displaying targeted character development skills in the past
- Understand that challenges are not inherently negative, but that regularly practiced personal management skills can position them to achieve their goals
- Develop skills to better manage the issues that directly affect their lives and community.
- Promote success with their goals through the Think Before You Move model resulting in positive decision making.

Re: Mark White #05671028
USP – Terre Haute – M Unit
PO Box 33
Terre Haute, IN 47808

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing on behalf of Mark White, who requested that I send a letter of recommendation to you on his behalf. I am happy to be able to fill this request for Mark. By way of introduction, Crossroad Bible Institute has existed for the past 20 years as a ministry that provides a solid, step-by-step Christian education. We have 30,000 students across the country, and we have 4,000 trained Instructors to correct the lessons of the students. Every lesson that the student completes is carefully perused and a letter of encouragement and direction is sent with the corrected lesson back to the student. We keep careful records of each student's progress, and I am able to give you a detailed description of Mark's efforts in completing our course.

Mark enrolled in Crossroad Bible Institute on February 28, 2005. He has since completed all 12 lessons of the Great Truths of the Bible Course and was awarded a certificate of completion. He completed each lesson in a timely manner and with an excellent level of accuracy. This report shows that Mark puts forth effort, follows through on his commitments and works to complete what he sets out to do. Mark is continuing his studies in our second course of Tier 1, Survey of the Bible. He is currently working on lesson 1 of 14 of this course.

Mark has been a faithful student, a joy to work with, and is to be commended on his work thus far. I welcome any questions that you may have regarding his work with Crossroad Bible Institute.

Sincerely,

G0000 TRANSACTION SUCCESSFULLY COMPLETED

November 24, 2017

To Whom It May Concern:

At West Virginia University, I have been teaching American literature for almost twenty years. In the fall of 2017, I had the opportunity to teach a 200-level English course inside a men's medium-security federal prison at the Hazelton Correctional Center in Bruceton Mills, West Virginia. This class, ENGL 275: Justice and Literature, was part of the Inside-Out Prison Exchange program, a higher education program that brings college students and incarcerated students together to take a class inside a prison.

My class consisted of fourteen "outside" undergraduates from West Virginia University and sixteen "inside"/incarcerated men at the FCI, Hazelton. In addition to a significant amount of reading, the students wrote six 500-word responses to the literature and a six-page final essay. They also collaborated in small groups on final projects that generated ideas for effective programs in and out of prisons. The students presented these projects to the class, providing visual and textual materials to illustrate their ideas.

Mark Anthony White, one of the inside students, was a conscientious and valuable member of class. He completed every assignment on time and often wrote far more than was required. He contributed to class discussion, provided important insight, and made connections between our readings. He demonstrated remarkable commitment to his education. I am looking forward to continuing to work with Mr. White in the Think Tank, a group of Inside-Out alumni who design and implement positive programming for the facility.

Please feel free to contact me for any additional information.

Sincerely,

Katy Ryan
